

This star continues to shine brightly

Musical entertainer Tony Pace now on stage at Resorts Atlantic City

By Jon Westman
Lifestyle Magazine

He is the man with the voice who just happens to be funny and he has wowed crowds across the Mid-Atlantic region and beyond for more than a decade. His dynamite voice, dynamic stage presence and down-right funny impersonations and skits have made him an instant favorite of anyone who has seen him perform. The show also includes unforgettable moments for those called upon to assist Tony in the audience participation aspects of his skits.

Pace performs alongside headliners such as Jerry Seinfeld, Chris Isaak, Whoopi Goldberg and Tom Jones.

Local newspapers are raving about his talents, and enthusiastic audiences are selling out the theater at Resorts to experience firsthand what the buzz is about. Since his debut on the popular hotel and casino's stage, Tony has received a standing ovation from each and every sellout crowd.

Pace's innate ability to interact with the audience is second to none and yet the show includes several serious vocal performances that prove what an accomplished singer Tony is.